

Cristián Domínguez, (Bolivian Climate Change Platform)

You and I we are citizens of the world. If you and I don't change, we are not going to be able to change our governments. We must examine the political agenda of our governments. Your vote is what guarantees the safety of this world.

When you elect your politician, elect someone who guarantees that we can continue living in this world, this earth, so that our grandchildren and great-grandchildren can inherit a world like we have today.
