

Peace People Who Changed the World

'Peace? Nice idea, but there's nothing we can do about it.'

There is a common assumption among young people that there's nothing they can do to change the world. Peace People is a resource for educators who want to challenge that and help light the fire of hope and engagement - essential gifts for today's young Christians and world citizens.

Suitable for Key Stage 4 and upwards, PSHE and Citizenship, for chaplaincy and retreat work and for adult groups.

The book contains ten short biographies of peacemakers from different parts of the world and, through activity sheets, links their lives to the following approaches to peacemaking:

Conscientious Objection/ Nonviolent action and civil disobedience/ Accompaniment and solidarity/ Empowerment for change.

There are also activities worksheets on What makes a peacemaker and Discovering local peacemakers.
