

Clare Short MP

“Everyone is disillusioned with current politics and our political system. But if people of conscience turn away, power is left in the hands of the cynics, spinners and opportunists. We live at a time of great danger to the future of humanity. Good people must engage and find ways of banding together and demanding better. It won't be easy, but it must be done.”