“Let there be nothing among you that can divide you.”

(St. Ignatius of Antioch)

Dear Friends,

The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity runs between the 18th and the 25th January, and looking at our broken world now, more than ever and despite our divisions, we need to stand together. For peace, for the planet, and if we want to achieve justice.

Talking of coming together, our Action of the Week is for the Group that you belong to sign an urgent letter to party leaders asking them to take action to address the climate and nature crisis. Please take part through the link below.

Apologies, but there was a bit of a hiccup in the design of the Booking Form for Conference, so the Newsletters, with the forms, were posted out later than expected. If you haven't received yours already, it will drop through your door sometime this week. If you are planning on attending our Conference, you can now book through our website, using either the downloadable Word document, or the Microsoft Form. Payments will still need to be made manually, though, through either a Bank Transfer, or by Cheque. We are really looking forward to seeing many of you again.

This weekend we have a shorter E-bulletin than normal due to the fact that I have been under the weather for a few days. I would be interested to hear whether people would be interested in receiving one of this size in future with maybe just a couple of main topics in News and Comment. My son always tells me this is far too long!

All being well, I will be preparing the next E-bulletin around the 3rd/4th February, so news of any events, or articles, will need to be with me by Friday 2nd February.

Wishing you well for the next two weeks,

Sharon

THE CLIMATE COALITION COMMUNITY OPEN LETTER

The Climate Coalition writes:

ADD YOUR COMMUNITY'S VOICE TO OUR LETTER TO PARTY LEADERS

Protecting the things we love from the worst impacts of climate change is too important for division and delay. We need urgent action.

As we head into an election year, we need to show all politicians, political parties and candidates that people up and down the country support urgent action to address the climate and nature crises.

We're asking local groups and organisations all over the country to sign up to this letter. Each group that signs up represents people organising and acting for positive change in their own communities.

Add your community's voice to this letter to party leaders, and help us demonstrate the breadth and depth of the public mandate for action.

Read the Letter in full here, speak to your Group, and then fill in the form.

Thank you!

NEWS AND COMMENT

1. Climate and Environment (includes Actions and Events)

Action - Urgent vote against new Oil and Gas licences

#Stop Rosebank writes: - Parliament is about to debate the controversial Offshore Petroleum Licensing Bill and we need as many MPs there as possible to vote against new oil and gas expansion.

The new proposed legislation would require the UK regulator to hold annual licensing rounds for new oil and gas projects, at a time when we are already close to hitting the 1.5C threshold to limit the worst impacts of the climate crisis. This bill would lock in a huge expansion of new oil and gas production for decades to come, against all scientific advice.

Please write to your MP to ask them to attend the debate on Monday 22nd January 2024 and speak out against this terrible legislation. The UK parliament must vote NOT to expand new oil and gas production during a climate crisis.

Event - How do we make the climate crisis a priority election issue?

***Please note - this takes place on Tuesday 23rd January at 7pm*****

The Archdiocese of Birmingham Justice and Peace Commission are holding a Forum on Tuesday and invite you to take part via Zoom. Book your place here.

P.S. Don't forget 'Winning a Fossil Free Future' which was advertised in the last e-bulletin and which takes place on Monday 22nd January at 7pm.

UK 'used to be a leader on climate', lament European lawmakers

According to an article published in The Guardian yesterday (20th), since Brexit the UK are falling behind in environmental protections. The EU has done more than us in putting things in place, such as banning harmful pesticides and substances, taxing carbon emissions on imported goods, regulating batteries, and cleaning the air.

Various MEP's are quoted in the report. What I would like to know is what has happened to the huge amount of money that the Government said we would save through coming out of the EU....

Event - We Make Tomorrow

The Climate Justice Coalition have their Conference on the 28th January, more details of which are available here. They write: - The climate crisis will define politics and economics throughout this century, impacting working people in every way.

From fast rising prices to food shortages, industrial change to floods and fires. The transition is underway but led by corporate interests at the expense of workers. Now more than ever we need to build workers' power, to both halt industrial pollution and win a transition that is worker-led and fair.

They produce a very interesting newsletter, which is not available on their website. It is well worth signing up to, though. You can do so through this link.

Leaders at Davos must address 'loss and damage' funding to help climate hit communities

Christian Aid 'is urging the UK Foreign Secretary and the UK Chancellor to use high-level talks at Davos to scale up international commitments to support the world's most vulnerable communities to repair the damage from climate breakdown.'

Read what Christian Aid's Mariana Paoli, Head of Global Policy and Advocacy, says here.

Action - The Big Plastic Count - 11th - 17th March

The plastic waste crisis isn't going away, so The Big Plastic Count is back.

The Big Plastic Count Team writes: - In 2022, a quarter of a million people from households, schools, businesses and communities across the country made The Big Plastic Count the biggest ever investigation into UK household plastic waste. By counting your plastic waste for 1 week, you helped us to reveal a shocking truth: that the UK throws away 2 billion pieces of plastic every week, only 12% of which is recycled.

In 2024, governments will be negotiating a Global Plastics Treaty that could finally phase out plastic production for good. And so, we're doing The Big Plastic Count again - this time we'll be using the results to convince UK ministers to lead the way at these talks and push for a really strong treaty.

It's a massive opportunity, but we have to act fast...and we need your help!

Azerbaijan appoints fossil fuel execs and scandal-hit officials to all-male Cop29 committee

Climate Home News (an American site) reports on the planned COP29, and it is not looking good so far for the next one.

The headline obviously grabs you, but when you go into the article, it has put an additional line on there that says: - Update: Three days after this article was published, the government of Azerbaijan added 12 women and two men to the committee. They did not comment on the reason for the change. I will lead you to draw your own conclusions about the potential of COP29, which will be taking place in November 2024).

2. Palestine/Gaza/Israel (includes an Action, Event and a Newsletter)

As we have passed the 100 days since hostilities began, a selection of articles about the conflict.

From Toine van Teeffelen, friend and Pax Christi partner in Bethlehem (19/01/24)

The Israeli army and West Bank settlers are not separate entities.

My taxi driver moves his flat hand under and against his chin. That seems to have a double meaning: the water is rising to his lips, and he is being strangled.

I talk to the driver about the severe economic decline and the restrictions on freedom of movement in the West Bank in the shadow of the horrors of Gaza. Traveling between West Bank cities is still problematic due to the many checkpoints characterized by often long waiting times, systematic humiliations, and brutal behavior by the Israeli army and settlers.

What stands out in the international news is how much Western governments make a distinction between violent behavior by settlers and by the army in the West Bank.

In itself, it is helpful that plans are circulating, not yet implemented, to deny violent settlers visas when visiting Western countries. A few days ago, an Australian foreign minister visited and said to be "deeply concerned" about the aggressive behavior of settlers in the West Bank.

But the army and the settlers are more than ever an inseparable whole, and that is not acknowledged.

In the Hebron area, for example, Palestinians suddenly see their settler neighbors in military uniforms exhibiting the same threats and violence as before without uniforms.

A well-known nonviolent Palestinian activist in Hebron, Issa Amro, says that after October 7, he was handcuffed, blindfolded, beaten, and threatened by settler-soldiers for ten hours. "I thought they would kill me. It was the worst experience of my life. I know what to do with soldiers, even when they are fanatic. But settlers in uniform are impossible."

About 5,500 residents of Israeli settlements were recruited into special military units, so-called regional or territorial battalions, after October 7.

These units are supposed to guard the areas around the settlements. A special unit was even formed around the so-called hilltop youth, infamous for years for their violence towards the Palestinian population.

The army has distributed about 7,000 weapons to these battalions and not only that. Israeli settlers who do not serve in the army also receive a significant number of those thousands of weapons. They often live in so-called outposts that need to be secured because they are part of the mentioned territorial units. The fact that these outposts are settlements that are even illegal in Israel apparently does not matter.

In any case, there is an enormous number of weapons in circulation in Israel. Since October 7, more than 250,000 new applications for firearm permits have been made in Israel, which is more than the total of the past 20 years.

According to the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), there have been 431 attacks on Palestinians by settlers in the West Bank since October 7. In almost half of the cases, the settlers were accompanied by soldiers, or the latter actively supported them.

The violence and threats of the settlers are not just randomly violent but intended to expel people, individually or collectively. In the last few months, about 30 Bedouin communities have been expelled from large areas of land in the West Bank, which then become accessible for Israeli colonization.

The scenario that is now looming: If the water rises to the lips of the Palestinians in the West Bank, and there are new outbreaks of violence, the settlers may seize the opportunity for a new Nakba or expulsion of Palestinian residents.

Bishop Christopher calls for ceasefire 'to end appalling suffering' in Gaza

The Bishop of Southwark, the Rt Revd Christopher Chessun, has spoken of the dire situation facing Christians and others following a pastoral visit to Jerusalem and the West Bank during the 14 - 18 January.

According to the Diocese of Southwark website: - During this time, he met with Bishop Hosam, the Anglican Archbishop in Jerusalem as well as priests from Nazareth, Jerusalem and Ramallah.

'None of the children has winter clothes'

The United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA) reports on the situation with Mena and her four children (including two with disabilities) who are living in a makeshift tent in Al Quds Open University in Gaza.

Their Flash Update #97 reports on the situation as it stood on the 19th January. You can read it here.

Christians hope to make their presence felt in Gaza protests

Church Times report on what motivated the activists who turned up on the streets to protest last Saturday 'in support of Palestine, calling for a ceasefire in Gaza and solidarity with Jewish anti-war advocates.'

They quote Fr. Martin Newell as saying: - "I think it's really important that this conflict is not seen as Jews against Muslims. Firstly, there are Christian Palestinians; and also it's not a religious conflict in that sense: it's about fundamental issues of justice and oppression and violence and war."

Action - Join the boycott of Barclays

Many years ago I worked for Barclays, and I was very shocked when a valued colleague resigned over the bank's stance on South Africa. At that time I wasn't at all politically motivated, and had no clue what was going on there.

Fast forward to now, and it does not surprise me to read what Palestine Solidarity Campaign have written in a recent email: - Barclays is bankrolling Israel's genocidal assault on Palestinians in Gaza. The bank invests over £1 billion in companies supplying weapons and military technology to Israel, which are used in its attacks on Palestinians. Over the past weeks, thousands of people have joined protests outside Barclays branches to call on the bank to end its complicity. But the bank isn't listening.

So today, we're calling on you to take the first step to boycott Barclays. If you're a Barclays customer, we're asking you to pledge today to close your account on 9 February 2024 using our pledge form in this link.

If you're not a Barclays customer, we're asking you to write to the bank to tell it you won't use any Barclays services. Find out how by clicking here.

*The PSC stress that to have the most effect, it has to be a co-ordinated effort - SO PLEASE DO NOT CLOSE YOUR ACCOUNT OR WRITE TO THEM UNTIL THE 9TH FEBRUARY.

Event - Post-Conflict Gaza: Construction or Reconstruction

Wednesday 24th January at 3pm UK time

The Balfour Project is putting on this webinar with Charlie Bird OBE in conversation with Andrew Whitley.

They write: - From 2010 to November 2018 Charles Bird, OBE, was a Teaching Fellow at the Centre for the Study of Terrorism and Political Violence (CSTPV), University of St Andrews, Scotland, UK, and was Course Tutor for the Certificate and Advanced Certificate in Terrorism Studies.

Between 1986 and 2010 he was a member of HM Diplomatic Service, specialising in the Middle East, conflict, post-conflict, terrorism and counter-terrorism issues. Postings included to the UAE (1988–92) with involvement in Desert Storm, Belgrade (1992–93) during the war in former Yugoslavia, Macedonia (1999) for the Kosovo crisis, Greece and Nigeria.

During tours in the UK, his jobs included Deputy Head of Middle East Department, Head of South Asia Department, and leading the project that resulted in the formation of the interdepartmental (FCO, MoD, DfID) Stabilisation Unit, which co-ordinates the UK Government's post conflict reconstruction work in, amongst other places, Iraq and Afghanistan.

In 2003 he was seconded back to the military and was on the staff of the General Officer Commanding 1st (UK) Armoured Division in Iraq, both during and for several months after the invasion.

Between 2004–2008 he was on secondment to the MoD working on issues related to counter-terrorism.

Israel faces genocide charges at the International Court of Justice

This news, through ICN, is now over a week old, but it includes links to the public hearings at The Hague, and to the Application itself. Read/watch it here.

A few days prior to that, again through ICN, Toine van Teeffelen has written about this initiative, brought about by South Africa.

War on Gaza: The West's military action against the Houthis is doomed to fail

The Balfour Project have shared this article by Richard Burden, dated the 13th January. He talks about the situation in Yemen and says: - The action by the US and UK has all the hallmarks of a policy driven more by the mantra that 'something must be done' than by clear strategic thinking about what that 'something' should be.
